

ABSTRACT

According to one embodiment, a method is disclosed. The method includes transmitting data symbols from a media access control layer (MAC) processing element to a second processor and monitoring a receive signal strength indicator (RSSI) value to determine if the data symbols have been completely transmitted from a system transmitter.

Docket No. 042390.P11759
Express Mail No. EL807366731US